St. Joe Sends a Bid.

St. Joe. Mo., July 23 -St. Joe's invitation to the president to visit this city dur-ing his western tour in the fall has been sent to Washington and will probably be delivered to the president on the Monday next. It was contemplated at first sending a large delegation of our leading citizens regardless of political belief in a special car to present the invitation in person. It was at last decided, however, that it would be in better taste to do away with all display which might be construed as a desire to advertise St. Joe and invite the president as any other distinguished gentleman would be invited to become the guest of St. Joseph.

The invitation is sent out by the board of trade representing the commercial inter-ests of the city and the mayor and city council as representing all citizens of what ever political complexion, religious belief or present or past condition.

If the president should accept the invitation he will be invited to become the guest of the Benton club.

Favorable to Powderly.

Pettseuro, July 23—At the annual seeting today of District Assembly No. 3, Knights of Labor, comprising all the semblies in Allegheny county, four delegates to the general assembly who are favorable to Powderly were chosen. The consideration of the new constitution caused a lively discussion and developed the fact that a majority of the knights are opposed to it. They claim that the laws providing for a greater centralization of power in the general executive board were rushed through by a certain element in the order and that it does not comprise the sentiments of the majority of the organization. It is probable that the delegates to the general assembly will be instructed to

An Unprecedented Storm.

Purtuesming N. J. July 23 .- An un precedented electric storm accompanied by a heavy rain fall occurred here to-day. The house of George Fox, station agent at Mauch Chunck, was undermined by water from the tunnel and wrecked. Mr. Fox's mother and neice, Mrs. Beers, were killed. Several persons were struck by lightning. The But'sburg depot was burned. All the telegraph and telephone lines are down.

The storm caused great destruction to property throughout the country.

A Question of Salary.

MEMPHIS, July 23 .- At a meeting of the Tennessee State Bar Association which adjourned at Kuoxville today, Mr. McFar land introduced a resolution memoralizing congress to increase the pay of the United States district judges to $5,000 per annum. He cited the differences in the pay of the circuit judge and then compared their sal-aries with the United States district judges. He declared that it was unjust and it ought to be made more equal, and the motion was carried.

The sun goes down behind the purple sea;
The gray clouds float across the crimson west;
Shadowless, shapeless and in slow unrest,
Across the west they wander silently.
The night, in solemn state and majesty,
Is throued behind the eastern ocean's breast,
Wrapped like an eagle in a secret nest,
Walting the hour when his strong wings are free.
The evening smiles—a smile of dying hope;
A host of silver may come with the night. A host of silver may come with the night,

THE CABLES OF THE WORLD.

An Interesting Map of the Principal Lines of Telegraphic Communication. I have a chart issued by the hydrographic office of the United States navy, in which are shown the submarine cables of the world, with the sea coast stations and the principal connecting land lines. It is an interesting map to any one, and I've no doubt of great value to many. In fact, I should imagine it would make one of the most important charts that a mariner could have in his collection ides showing the locations of the lines a table of international rates is also given. The conversation to which I had been a listener, you may be sure, started me on a fresh in-vestigation of my chart. Let us take a glance at it together.

The United States, of course, is well ribbed with wires, three lines of which stretch from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, or at least practically so. Then there are two running from the extreme north to the Gulf, while another skirts the Pacific coast, Mexico has a number of lines, while the West Indies appear to lack nothing in this respect. Both coasts of South America as far down as Patathe rest of the world, while running into Brazil from Lisbon, Portugal, there is a pair of submarine cables. Did you know there were as many as ten cables connecting the new and the old worlds! They don't run directly across, either. The couple which bring St. Pierre, on this side, and Brest, France, together sweep down as far south as the lati-tude of New York. Of course you understand that in laying submarine cables the bed of the ocean is first carefully considered.

sould start it across the continent, where it would take a journey under water, he flashed through Europe, again under water in the Mediterraneam sea, through the Suez canal, across India, under the Bay of Bengal, the Java sea, a piece of the Indian ocean and finally to the operator at Palmerston, Australia. He would start it across that continental island to Sydney, where it would take another bath, this time in the Pacific ocean, and flusly it would be delivered to the man and posteffice address of every person in each line of business may be found, will be an important feature of this publication.

In the spring of 1807 one of our neighbors loaned me several copies of Peterson's magazine. In the September number for 1865 I read the story of Bessie and her lover. It was related as a historical fact, and the pathetic story wrought upon my susceptible mind to such an extent that later in the day, when applying myself to my school lessors, the thought of brave Bessie intruded and worked thought of brave besse intruded and worked disastrous havoe to the mathematical problem on my slate. The figures became a confused, unintelligible jumble of meaningless characters, but clearly and distinctly before my mental vision arose these words: "Curfew must not ring to-night." Again and again I resolutely banished them, but they returned persistently, until in sheer desperation I swept the exasperating figures from my slate and wrote "England's such was slowly setting, etc." Rapkily flew my pencil with sharp, regular clicks down the surface of my slate, but faster the thoughts came crowding into my throbbing brain, while all my being seemed on fire with the triumph of impulse over duty. Which was duty! The unlearned lesson or the completed poem! I was conscious smitten when my mother looked in at disastrous havoc to the mathematical problem C. A. A Common Mistake.

Why do so many intelligent persons stubbornly refuse to take any kind of medicine for slight illness, when first taken sick, and when the greatest benefit may be derived from plain simple treatment. Nearly always the first act of a physician when called, is to prescribe remedies to move the bowels, to regulate the liver, open the secretions and aid nature. Why do not intelligent personatake the same plain treatment in time themselves, try it and take St. Patrick's pills, they are guaranteed to give satisfaction. They are milally without griping or irritation, and are thorough in their effect, they are a perfect physic for men, women or children. Sold by Aldrich, Brown & Allen.

Europe is crossed and recrossed, while from St. Petersburg clear across to the Pacific coast extends a lonely line of wire. Siberia is as bare of poles and wire as the average old gentleman's head is of limir. So is the greater portion of northern and western Russia, the whole of interior China and Africa, British America and Alinka, and, of course, Greenland and Iceland. Australia has several lines of wire running its length, one of which comes clear from the north, where the cable from British India emerges from its watery bed, down to Tasmania.
